

BEST FRIENDS ANIMAL SOCIETY: PROVEN STRATEGIES, PROVEN IMPACT

Best Friends and our network of 3,300+ shelter and rescue partners are saving lives and achieving no-kill at an unprecedented rate. A no-kill United States is in sight.

LIFESAVING PROGRESS AROUND THE COUNTRY

Since 2016, when Best Friends declared our goal to make the country no-kill by the end of 2025, we have made incredible lifesaving progress. In the last five years, we have directly supported nearly 1,000 animal shelters around the country, and the field has been completely transformed. Community-supported sheltering, our vision for a new way of animal sheltering—where saving animal lives is a collaboration between shelters and their communities—has accelerated from a pilot to a widespread solution.

The COVID-19 pandemic had a drastic impact on homeless pets. In 2020,

Shelters engaged with Best Friends save more lives than unengaged shelters.

In states like California where Best Friends prioritized resources, intakes trended even lower, and lifesaving was higher than national averages.

MORE NO-KILL SHELTERS

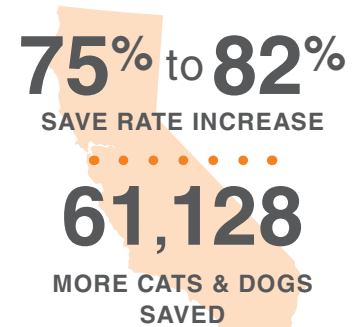

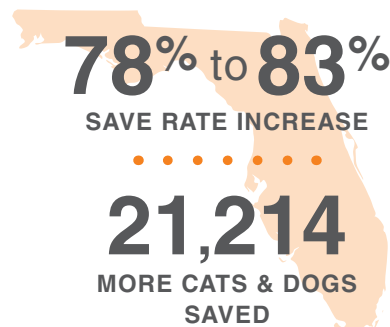

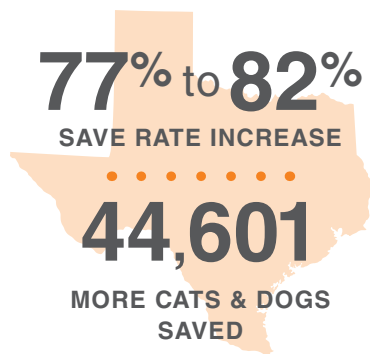

There are 4,404 animal shelters in the U.S. (as of 2020). Today, 48% of them are no-kill.

The percentage of shelters that are no-kill has doubled over the last five years.

LIFESAVING WHERE IT'S NEEDED THE MOST

Last year, Best Friends and our network partners provided critical support in TEXAS, FLORIDA, and CALIFORNIA, three of the top five states with the biggest lifesaving gaps in 2019. The results speak for themselves.

THE ROAD MAP TO 2025

For the last five years our programs and services have been guided by three simple yet powerful strategic priorities:

Saving Lives

Directly saving animals and modeling solutions to achieve no-kill nationwide

Supporting Shelters

Transforming animal sheltering systems in partnership with our national network of animal welfare organizations

Mobilizing the Public

Inspiring and organizing community engagement for systemic change and lifesaving success

This work is making a real, tangible difference. Millions of cats and dogs are alive today who otherwise might not be, and millions of families around the country are enriched because of them. Together, if we keep working hard, we can build a better future through kindness to animals and the people who love them. Please join us in this work with a gift to Best Friends today.
